CAMPBELL, Dr. Charles William Campbell III, 72, passed away Feb. 24, 2011. He leaves behind his wife of many years, Margaret (Campbell) Campbell of Danville; his daughter, Eloise Hamilton Campbell (David Longenecker) of Danville; his grandson, Oliver Rex Longenecker; and his sister, Kay Campbell of Houston. A devoted father, "Charlie," as he was widely known, appreciated and shared with his family and friends the luxury of time. In his professional life, "Dr. Campbell" was a much loved, longtime professor at Centre College, where he held the Paul G. Blazer Chair of Economics. He had earlier taught economics at the University of Kentucky. He earned an A.B., cum laude, in economics and philosophy from Marshall University, and a Ph.D. from the University of Virginia. He also was involved in several businesses in Huntington, W.V., including serving as president and chairman of the C. W. Campbell Co. and, in the late 1970s, owning and operating Campbell Hardware in downtown Danville. During his 32 years at Centre, he chaired virtually every important faculty committee, including the Tenure & Reappointment Committee, the Curriculum Committee, the Honors & Prizes Committee, the Public Affairs Committee, the Library Committee and the Athletics Committee. He was an official advisor to Beta Theta Pi fraternity and an advisor to the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, while overseeing internships in small business, banking and land use planning. His students remember Charlie for his ability to make esoteric economic theory understandable, and for his wit. He was a gifted teacher with a unique ability to reach those whose post-graduate achievement would eclipse modest academic success. During the summers of 1980, 1984, 1987 and 1989, he taught economics in London, England, as part of the Vanderbilt International Summer Program. He taught winter classes for Centre students in corporate finance, public finance and investment analysis in both Washington, D.C., and New York City. Campbell served on the investment committee of the Danville Presbyterian Church and the boards of several Danville organizations, including the Wilderness Trace Child Development Center and Leadership Danville. John A. Roush, president of Centre College, called Campbell "a true legend at Centre College, who influenced for the good the lives of many over more than three decades. We have missed and will miss Charlie, but his legacy lives on in the lives of the countless students who learned from and admired him. A memorial service will be 2 p.m. Friday, March 4, 2011, at The Presbyterian Church of Danville. The family will receive friends following the service in the fellowship hall. The family suggests memorial donations to the Dr. Charles W. Campbell III Scholarship Fund c/o Centre College, or the Boyle County Humane Society. Stith Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. Friday, March 2, 2012.

GORLEY, W.T. Gorley. 1914-2012. William Thomas "W.T." Gorley, 98, passed away Tuesday, May 15, 2012, at Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center. He was the husband, married 72 years, of Christine Wilcher Gorley. Mr. Gorley was born Jan. 19, 1914, in Forkland, and was the son of the late James Bailey and Mary Katherine Coyle Gorley. The eldest of five children, he was preceded in death by brothers James Harlan, Robert Franklin and Cecil Lawton, and sister Barbara Ailene Gorley Jones. W.T. attended Forkland high school and among his early jobs were Forkland school janitor, Darnell Hospital fireman, Butternut truck driver and Calhoun's Grocery Store. He retired after 26 years at Corning Glass. W.T. also was a farmer for most of his life on the Fork and in Perryville. He and his brother, Harlan, were the original owners of Gorley's General Store, and along with his wife they ran the store until the early 1960s. The store was the regular gathering spot for farmers, a quick Rook game, political and gossip tales, and a bologna sandwich. Living on the Fork for most of his life, W.T. loved all his friends and family in the community, and at Sycamore Church of Christ. A charter member, he was very actively involved in the Forkland Community Center and he spent many hours volunteering at the Forkland Festival and other events. He loved being outdoors, riding or walking over the hills and in the woods. He enjoyed quail hunting and fishing with his brothers and never met a stranger. He was a regular at Penn's Store and often was heard sharing stories. He and his wife moved to Danville in the mid-1990s, and despite missing the Fork, he found welcoming neighbors and a new church family at West End Church of Christ in Danville. In addition to his wife Christine, he is survived by two sons, Bob (Verna) Gorley of Parksville and Glenn (Sandy) Gorley of Danville; a daughter, Betty Scobie of Danville; grandchildren, Rob (Rita) Gorley, Elizabeth (Dan) Lowe, John (Cheryl) Gorley, Steven (Courtney) Boyd, Tammy (Steve) Carr, Ashley (Mandy) Gorley, Tim Scobie, Jill (John) Peck, Kristen (Edward) Congleton and Michael Votaw; 16 great-grandchildren; a brother-in-law, Gerald (Ann) Wilcher; and many much loved nieces and nephews. HENSON, Holly Henson. 1960-2012. Holly Lee Henson, 51, of Danville died Sunday, May 27, 2012, at her home. Born July 19, 1960, in Danville, she was the daughter of Charlotte Hutchison Henson of Danville and the late Eben Henson. She graduated from Danville High School and attended Stephens College, Columbia, Mo. Holly was a standup comedienne and took over as executive artistic director of summerstock theater Pioneer Playhouse after her father died in 2004. She had battled breast cancer for years. Holly continued her theater education at the Drama Studio of London. She then moved to Los Angeles, where she lived for many years, appearing in several films. One day on a whim, Holly signed up for a comedy class advertised in the LA Weekly. That class led to a comedy career that took her into comedy clubs across America and Canada performing stand-up. Holly went on to become one of the most popular acts in Minneapolis, where she had moved to be with her husband, Thomas Hansen, a comedy booker. The Minneapolis Star Tribune called her "Ruthlessly funny. Can make you laugh so hard your fillings ache," and she was named "One of the Top Comediennes in America" by XM Satellite Radio. After being diagnosed with breast cancer five years ago, Holly continued her stand-up career, traveling extensively in between treatments. She strongly believed that laughter was the best medicine. Over the years, she gave hope and inspiration to countless breast cancer survivor groups, always ending her act with the motto: "Every journey is different." In addition to her mother, Holly is survived by her husband, Thomas Hansen; two brothers, Eben (Janet) Henson of Danville and Robby (Lin) Henson of Santa Monica, Calif., and a sister, Heather (Tim Ungs) Henson of Harrodsburg; a brother-in-law, Scott (Michelle) Hansen of Minneapolis; and three sisters-in-law, Faith (Buddy) Hansen of White Water, Wis., Joy Hansen of New Hope, Minn., and Chris Griep of Anoka, Minn.; a niece, Lila Ungs; and two nephews, Daniel and Theo Ungs; and too many to mention who loved her in Minnesota. Visitation will be from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, June 3, 2012, at Pioneer Playhouse. The funeral service will be 4 p.m. Sunday. Father Tom Farrell will officiate. Memorials are suggested in Holly's honor to Pioneer Playhouse, 840 Stanford Road, Danville, KY 40422.

HILL, Rev. Richard Eugene Hill Sr., 79, died Thursday. Born April 18, 1933, in Jeffersonville, Ind., he was the son of Jesse and Lucille Hill. He was pastor of First Baptist Church, Second and Walnut, for 31 years and served as pastor emeritus since retirement. He was a veteran of the U.S. Army. He is survived by his wife, Mary Ross Hill; his children, Richard Hill Jr., Dana (George) Yeast and David Hill; one nephew, Michael Baines; 13 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends. Visitation will be 5-8 p.m. Wednesday at First Baptist Church, Second and Walnut, with funeral services 1 p.m. Thursday at the church. A second visitation will be noon Friday at First Trinity Missionary Baptist Church in Jeffersonville, Ind., with burial to follow in Eastern Cemetery in Jeffersonville. Smith-Jackson Funeral Home is in charge of local arrangements. Sunday, August 19, 2012. HILL, Richard Eugene Sr: In more than three decades as a pastor, Rev. Richard Hill touched people far beyond the walls of his own church. The Jeffersonville, Ind., native, who spent 31 years leading one of Danville's landmark religious institutions — First Baptist Church, Second and Walnut — died Thursday at age 79. "He was a pastor in the truest sense of the word, who was so concerned about everyone's spiritual growth," said granddaughter Janna Hill. "He not only talked the talk, but he walked the walk. He wasn't any different when he walked away from the pulpit than he was in public.". Hill came to Danville in 1974 after spending 12 years at Mill Street Baptist Church in London. First Baptist's membership grew from about 200 to more than 1,000 during his tenure, but it was the baptisms, conversions and chances to be part of people's lives he relished as much as full pews. . In a news story about Hill's retirement from the pulpit in 2005, he spoke to a reporter about developing a love for the church where he would spend most of his life. "Every time we passed by First Baptist, my wife, Mary, and I would comment on how beautiful it was and how lucky the pastor was to have this church," said Hill. "It would be a dream to be the pastor here, I thought then. I never dreamed I would or could be.". Those who knew him said he took education seriously and after his graduation from Jeffersonville High School in Indiana. He attended an Indiana University extension program in Jeffersonville, followed by a two-year stint in the U.S. Army. He earned bachelor's degrees from Simmons Bible College in Louisville and Cumberland College, along with a master's degree from Union College. Hill eventually followed the path of his grandfathers and was ordained a minister in the National Baptist Convention of America Inc., a predominately African-American denomination. He was a past president of the Danville-Boyle County Ministerial Association and the Kentucky Baptist Unified Christian Leadership Conference. "Rev. Hill often told of how he came from humble beginnings, but he was so concerned with getting educated in order to do God's work that he would ride his bicycle from Jeffersonville across the bridge to Simmons Bible College in Louisville," said Minnie Frye, who has been a member of First Baptist for 56 years, most of them with Hill as pastor. "He was well known, not only in this community, but across the state and country for being an educated man of God. People said he was a 'Christian gentleman' and that was really true. Other pastors respected him a great deal.". Hill's involvement in the community was widely felt, including his role in helping revitalize the local NAACP chapter. Among his many service activities, he spent time on the boards of the local Red Cross and the Danville Housing Authority, which allowed him to focus on fair housing for all Danville residents, a personal passion. "The highlight of this ministry, in my opinion, is the great number of people that we have helped," Hill said in the 2005 article. "Scores and scores and scores of people, both black and white. We have provided food and temporary shelter and paid the bills for local people in financial crisis and also paid for vouchers so the transients coming through this community could have a meal at a local restaurant and stay at a local motel.". Family and friends said Hill always had a keen interest in helping people who had problems or had made mistakes in their lives. Prior to devoting himself full time to ministry, he worked as a field services coordinator with Cumberland River Comprehensive Care in Corbin, dealing with those addicted to drugs and alcohol. Another of Hill's granddaughters — and Janna's twin sister — Lanna Hill, said his compassion wasn't confined to Danville. During a phone call to her grandparents following the 2010 earthquake that devastated Haiti, she said she could hear Hill weeping in the background as he watched news reports about the hardship people were experiencing. "He thought about others no matter what their race, gender, ethnicity or age," said Lanna Hill. "His love just transcended all of those boundaries." . Sisters Priscilla and Mavis McCowan, who came of age in Hill's church and have been lifelong members, recalled Hill serving as a mentor and an example through his knowledge of and strict adherence to scripture. They said he was just as likely to reach out to someone in a jail cell as he was a shutin. Priscilla McCowan, though, said it was a trip Hill made to visit their ailing father that left a lasting impression about how much he cared for others. Several years ago, when McCowan's father was scheduled to be admitted to a Lexington hospital for surgery at 6 a.m. on a January morning following a massive ice storm, Hill beat the family to the hospital. As much as he cared for others, Hill's own family said he delighted in being with his loved ones. Janna Hill, a Danville native who now lives in Atlanta, will remember a doting grandparent who loved spending time with his family, which included his wife Mary, children Dana Yeast and Richard Jr. and David Hill, 13 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. Hill also was a needed male influence in the lives of his granddaughters. Janna Hill said he eagerly filled the role and helped her avoid the pitfalls many young women face when a father isn't actively involved. "I was so lucky to have him as a father figure," Hill said. "I never felt like I missed out on anything because of his place in my life.". For complete obituary information see page 2 of today's The Advocate-Messenger. Sunday, August 19, 2012.

MAY, A. Jack May, 85, died Wednesday. Arrangements are pending at Preston-Pruitt Funeral Home. Local artist A. Jack May dies. By JENNIFER BRUMMETT. jbrummett@amnews.com. The death Wednesday of A. Jack May drew expressions of sadness but also poignant anecdotes about what the prominent local artist meant to the community in which he lived. May was an attorney and police judge by occupation, but his avocation was visual art. Longtime friend Wilma Brown, who knew May for 30 years, said one of his legacies is his devotion to teaching art to the masses in community classes. "A great many people learned to paint from Jack," Brown said. "We've lost one of the few people in our community who taught art to the community, to people who just wanted to take art classes. "Jack was for sharing. He wanted to teach people what he had learned about visual arts." Former mayor John W.D. Bowling, another longtime friend, said he took art lessons from May. "He was persistent. He could articulate what he was teaching. He knew what he was doing," Bowling said. Of May's legacy, Bowling added, "He (had) a talent that very few people have. . One of his biggest legacies is the artwork he is leaving behind for other people to enjoy." May's artwork can most readily be seen at the Danville post office. A dozen or so of his pen-and-ink drawings adorn the walls of the building. Brown said the pen-and-ink, architectural drawings were May's forte. Local artist David Farmer, who knew May since the early 1970s, said May was one of the originators of the now-defunct Wilderness Trace Art League. "We convened there and got acquainted," Farmer noted. "We visited from time to time, and painted together years ago. He was a community artist of record for years." Farmer said May worked in oils, watercolors and acrylics, as well as sketching and carving. "He did it all. . He was a town personality — one of the municipal characters," Farmer said. Bowling said May painted a 53-foot-long mural as a backdrop for Bowling's model railroad. "It's a background of Eastern Kentucky —the hills and outcroppings of rocks, and it's in fall of the year," Bowling explained. "He painted it for me eight or nine years ago. "It was a delight, quite frankly, to see him do that. I sketched out what I wanted, and he put colors to it. I'm not that talented. He just brought that whole wall to life." Brown said May was designated a Kentucky Heritage Artist in the late '60s or early '70s. A select group of artists was chosen from all over the commonwealth for the designation, which was created before the Kentucky Arts Council became the more organized entity it is today. "Most of the Kentucky Heritage Artists are either deceased or in their 80s now," Brown noted. She added one of the things she loved about May was, when he exhibited at Constitution Square State Historic Site, he would "let children come up and paint on his picture. "That was very much in line with his sharing his talent and helping the community," Brown explained. "He is an artist of record, and having been here for so long, he is part of the arts community and has been for some time. . I especially respected him because he wanted to share his art. He was never reticent to do that." Thursday, January 26, 2012. MAY, Jack May. 1926-2012. A. Jack May, aged 85, passed away after a lengthy illness Wednesday, Jan. 25, 2012. Born in Breathitt County Ky., on Feb. 13, 1926, he was the son of the late Roy R. and Alice

Combs May. Mr. May was a member of First Christian Church in Danville Ky., a member of the Kentucky Bar Association and a veteran of the United States Marine Corp. He was well known for his vitality and joke telling, and his jokes will be missed by those who regularly heard them. He was active in the legal system for over 55 years, having served as an attorney in Danville, Municipal Court Judge in Danville for 14 years, director of the Judicial Division for the State of Kentucky, director for the Division of Legal Services and instructor for the Kentucky Department of Criminal Justice Training. He also served with the National College of State Judiciary. Mr. May was most notably known for his achievements in the art world where he was a member of numerous groups such as the Art Institute of Danville, the Adult Art Workshop, Kentucky Heritage Artists Group, and was one of the founders of the Wilderness Trails Art League and past President of the Bluegrass Artist Association. He was skilled in virtually all media of art, including paint, sketch and sculpture. He enjoyed working with the local Boy Scout Troop #326 and the Bluegrass Council. Mr. May helped plan many jamborees and camping expeditions for the troop. Mr. May is survived by his loving son, Scott May of Lexington, Ky.; one sister, Geri Richert of Madison, Ind., as well as several nieces and nephews. Along with his parents, he was preceded in death by his wife, Delia "Billie" May, and one brother, Roy R. May. Although Mr. May requested that no services be held, a celebration of Mr. May's life through his artwork will be held at a later date. Mr. May had requested that any donations in his memory be made to Heritage Hospice or any animal shelter of your choice. Sunday, January 29, 2012.

MONROE, Dougald "Mac" Monroe Jr. DURHAM, N.C. — Dougald McDougald Monroe Jr. died peacefully from respiratory failure on June 30, 2012. While he used his full name on official documents, he was known by the less formal Mac Monroe to everyone. He grew up the son of a Presbyterian minister and was active in the church most of his life serving as a deacon and elder. He was active in his local churches, most recently Efland Presbyterian Church, but also participated in the national organization of Presbyterian churches. After his service as a radio operator in World War II, he attended graduate school on the GI bill, earning a Ph.D. in English. His degree reflected his love of language and learning. He taught literature for many years, winning praise from his students, and was proud of having instituted a new curriculum at Queens College when he served as chairman of the English department. He later moved into college administration and served as dean for several schools. He ended his academic career as part of the administration that founded Atlanta Junior (now Metropolitan) College. Retirement afforded him the luxury of returning to his love of language. In the church, he helped to train lay ministers in writing and preaching a sermon. He participated in the local theater, often playing the part of a crazy old man, and showed a subtle timing that made him good in both comedy and drama. He formed several "Socrates Clubs" as a way to continue his teaching and learning. His love of literature culminated in the publication, just before his death, of his book on thinking and learning. This labor of love, titled "The Life and Times of Mac Monroe," went on sale with Amazon.com the day before he died. Part of his retirement was spent caring for his wife Dorothy as her Parkinson's Disease became progressively worse and ultimately resulted in her death. He is survived by daughters, Amelia and Dru (Steve Zeldes); and sons, David and Mac III; grandchildren, Kris and Ben Zeldes; and by many students and friends whose lives he touched. In lieu of flowers or condolences, please consider making a donation to one of Mac's favorite charities: Moving in the Spirit at <http://www.movinginthespirit.org/> or Médecins Sans Frontières at <http://www.doctorswithoutborders.org/>. A graveside remembrance will be held at a later date. Stith Funeral Home in Danville, Ky., is assisting the family. Sunday, July 8, 2012. Dougald "Mac" Monroe Jr. Dougald McDougald Monroe Jr. died peacefully from respiratory failure on June 30, 2012. MOSS, Billy Carter Moss. 1924-2012. LANCASTER — Former Lancaster Mayor Billy Carter Moss, 87, passed away on Wednesday, May 16, at Lancaster Christian Care Center. Billy was born on July 6, 1924, and was the first of eight children of the late William Ball Moss Jr. and Anna Elveree Carter Moss. His parents were a farm family and instilled the important life values of a strong character, a hard work ethic, Christian beliefs and faithful commitment to family, community and country. As such, Billy made his confession of faith at an early age and became a member of Lancaster Christian Church in 1939. Billy received his education at the Lancaster Graded and High School. Prior to his graduation with the class of 1943, Billy enlisted in the United States Marine Corps. Immediately after graduation, he left Lancaster by train for basic training in California. He served his country proudly during World War II with his tour of duty from 1943 to 1946 in the South Pacific. He was with the Marines during the invasion of the Gilbert Islands, Marshall Islands, Sipan and Iwo Jima. He was stationed aboard a ship on stand-by in the Pacific Ocean when the first official American flag was raised after Iwo Jima was conquered. Billy was married to the late Berdeaux Bratton Moss. His life has been spent in his hometown of Lancaster, except for a few years that he worked and lived in Lexington. He owned and operated Moss Flower Shop for many years where he managed his business with the principles of design, individualism and creativity coupled with customer courtesy and satisfaction. Billy was a master floral designer in the Kentucky Florist Association and a member of the F.T.D. service. This venture was truly a family affair as "Uncle Billy" nurtured and trained many a "little redhead" niece or nephew and brother or sister in the business in order that they might become strong and effective career and business leaders today. The Easter holiday weekend was always a special occasion because it required full family cooperation to fill and deliver the orders. The Moss family's love for nature and flowers, as inherited from the family matriarch, Elveree Moss, and their spirit of entrepreneurship, as inherited from family patriarch, William Moss, was transferred to future generations when Billy sold his flower shop business to his nephew, the late Julian F. Moss Jr. Yet, Billy continued to work in the local business and serve as a mentor to his nephew and others. Billy has been an active civic and community leader as exhibited by his participation and membership of numerous organizations ranging from the Jaycees, where he sponsored and coached youth baseball, to the Veteran of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Kiwanis, Kentucky Florist Association, etc. Billy Moss was elected mayor of his beloved city of Lancaster, Ky. in 1968 at the end of the term of Mayor Stuart Powell. Billy continued to serve as mayor of our illustrious city until his term ended in 2006. During his tenure as mayor, he was a respected member of various governmental agencies such as the League of Cities, the Bluegrass Ad Council, etc. He was a dedicated and loyal community servant throughout his 38 years as mayor with his tireless mission for the betterment of Lancaster. However, he shunned praise and instead transferred the accolades of honor to other staff members. He prided himself in always conducting the business of the city with dignity and respect for others. He started out each morning at a very early hour, conducting his daily operational drive around the city to check on the state of affairs. He was proud to have witnessed the completion of the last phase of the major water improvement project, which was one of his last major business goals. The Honorable Billy Carter Moss enjoyed his retirement at the Lancaster Christian Care Center. He loved having the privilege of being toured in and around Lancaster to continue to observe the progress of our great city and sharing valuable time with family and friends. He was always eager to be on that special church bench at Lancaster Christian Church. Billy truly loved this city and its people, and he was humbled and gracious for having the opportunity to serve them!. Job well done to a good and faithful servant! We know you are God's new mayor riding those golden streets of heaven and keeping everything in order. Peace and rest to you. We love you, will miss you, but will always cherish wonderful memories of you. Billy is survived by brothers Shelton Moss and David (Peggy) Moss; sisters Mary Kathryn Hurte and Wilma (Hugh) Davis and sister-in-law Juanita Moss, all of Lancaster; and sister Virginia Rogers of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He leaves behind numerous nieces and nephews, great-nieces and nephews and greatgreat nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by brother Julian Moss Sr., sister Carolyn Moss and brother-in-laws, Dr. Nathaniel Rogers II and Clifford "Buzz" Hurte. Visitation is 4-9 p.m. today at Spurlin Funeral Home in Lancaster. Visitation will continue on Monday, May 21, at the Lancaster Christian Church from 11 a.m. until the time of the service at 1 p.m. Burial will follow at 2:30 p.m. at the Camp Nelson National Cemetery with military honors. Active pallbearers are Jack Cox Bailey II, Jeffrey C. Moss, Mark D. Hurte, Jeff Adams, Cecil Dunn and Allen Weston. Honorary pallbearers are the staff and management of Lancaster Christian Care Center. Sunday, May 20, 2012.

NAPER, Eliza Ann Naper. 1955-2012. On Wednesday evening, May 16, 2012, while listening to "Broken But I'm Healed," First Lady Eliza Ann Napier, 57, heard her heavenly father utter, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou has been faithful over few things, I will make thee ruler over many things ... you have fought a good fight, you have finished your course, you have kept the faith." In a spirit-filled room at Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center, First Lady Napier, in the company of her husband Bishop Timothy A. Napier, and her son, Jaharvas J. Napier, and a personal sitter, opened her bright eyes and gazed upon her husband for one last time and "snuck" out of the room around 10:05 p.m. following a three-year battle with cancer. Born on Monday, April 4, 1955, in Shelbyville, Ky., she was the daughter of Sarah Conn. An only child, First Lady Napier was fortunate enough to be raised up around family and close friends, in Martinsville, Ky., whom referred to her as "Stink." She attended High Street Elementary (an allblack school that had been in Martinsville) and graduated from Shelbyville High in 1973. She loved church and God at an early age and attended Bethel Temple No. 3 on Lee Nor Mack Street (Rev. Chambers) before joining the Church of God of America on Sixth and Bradshaw Street (Rev. Clay Beasley). First Lady Napier was a very hard worker with a good work ethic, which started at Cardinal Restaurant on Main Street and Ace Hardware in Shelbyville, where she worked many years until her marriage to Presiding Bishop Timothy A. Napier. Upon moving to Danville, Ky., she was employed at Palm Beach until it closed and Trim Masters in Harrodsburg, Ky., until retiring. Still unable to just "sit back and kick her feet up" she helped co-found a successful travel agency, Kentucky Tours and Travels Inc., with her husband, and worked at CVS Pharmacy until she was diagnosed with cancer. She never met a stranger a day in her life and formed many lasting friendships throughout her lifetime. In her leisure time, she enjoyed cooking, shopping and yard sales, and never passed up a "bargain aisle." She was an avid collector of black figurines, artwork, crystal, antiques and dolls, and owned more than 100 priceless dolls. First Lady Napier loved her only grandson, Jeconiah J'ace Luttrell, who affectionately called her "NaNa." First Lady Napier leaves those to celebrate her life and continue her motto of "faith, love and charity" the following: husband, Presiding Bishop Timothy A. Napier; one son, Jaharvas J. Napier; one grandson, Jeconiah J. Luttrell; her mother, Minister Sarah Conn; her mother-in-law, Ollie M. Napier; sisters-in-law, Ethel (Jimmy) Hunn, Malvena Brown, Charlotte Napier, Lydia Napier; and her dog, Elegant Lady Di "Lady". Those who also will celebrate and cherish fond memories of her are: Pat Ewing, her unwavering friend since Palm Beach; fellow yard-saler and doll collector buddy, Pat Thomas; her childhood friend and schoolmate, Mary Belle Wilson; her cousin, Justin Barnes, her "adopted son"; a host of great friends, Ella Johnson, Bernice Barnes, Mary McAdoo, Vernon Wilburn, James-Alice Wakefield, Marvin Hall, James and Jennie Hines, Rick and Mary Burchett, Julie Baker and Paulette Townsend; a beautiful host of personal home sitters, Stella Beavers, Margaret "Marty" Lowry, Mildred Bordes, Angie Williams and Margaret Johnson; as well a host of cousins, church family, friends and extended family who will greatly miss her "angelic smile" and laugh. The funeral service will be 1 p.m. Saturday, May 26, 2012, at First Christian Church, 555 E. Lexington Ave., Danville, with Bishop Larry Weathers and Bishop Ronald Ross officiating. Burial will follow at Belleview Cemetery. Visitation will be at the church from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday. Preston-Pruitt Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. In lieu of flowers, the family requests memorial contributions to the building fund of Church of God of America, P.O. Box 664, Danville, KY 40423. Friday, May 25, 2012.

SEITZINGER, Kathleen Seitzinger. We celebrate the life of Kathleen Seitzinger, 81, who passed away Feb. 21, 2012, in her Danville home. An Illinois resident for much of her early life, Kathleen, a daughter of Oscar and Esther Siebrasse, grew up on her parents' farm in Carbon Cliff where the family raised corn and soybeans as well as Arabian horses. Professionally, Kathleen's organizational skills and quick mind were put to good use in her career as an executive legal secretary at John Deere & Co.'s corporate offices, where she worked for nearly 40 years. Following her retirement, she and her husband, the late C.W. Seitzinger, custom-built their 'dream home' in Danville because they truly enjoyed the friendly people and comfortable climate. Locally, Kathleen was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church and an active member of the Streamland Club and Boyle County Homemakers for more than 20 years. She also served as their treasurer for a time. When not traveling around the country to sightsee and visit relatives, Kathleen was an avid seamstress, expertly tailoring many of her own suits. She also loved to garden, and to create and gift her colorful quilts and counted cross-stitch. Always up for an adventure, Kathleen learned to ski in her early 60s, and enjoyed visiting her New England relatives to practice this new skill. Animals were a constant comfort in her life, from the Arabian horses she helped raise to her beloved dogs. Kathleen will be remembered for her generous nature, her contagious laugh, her humility and her strong faith. She is survived by her brother-in-law, Grover Seitzinger; sister-in-law, JoAnne Siebrasse; two nieces, Carol Royce and Pamela Lester and her husband Garner; a nephew, Thomas Siebrasse and his wife Diane; five great-nieces, Kimberly Neiditz-Lester, Dianna Lester, Melissa Lester, Laurel Siebrasse and Alisa Siebrasse. She was preceded in death by her brother, Richard Siebrasse, of Westport, Conn. A graveside service will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at Camp Nelson National Cemetery, with the Rev. Amy Meaux officiating. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests a donation be made to Danville-Boyle Humane Society, Kathleen's favorite charity. Tuesday, February 28, 2012.

SHORT, Ina Short. Aug. 1, 1924-Nov. 19, 2012. Ina Short (native of Danville, Ky., and Louisville, Ky., respectively): Her family rejoices in the life of this beloved, beautiful belle, the matriarch of her family. She was the best grandmother to several grandchildren and a proud great-grandmother and great- great- grandmother. She was cherished mother to Brenda Short Kasdan and Sheila Short, and cherished stepmother to Donna Short Killman, Barbara Short Dempsey Sabak, and Robert Short Jr. She was predeceased by her daughter, Sheila, and stepson, Robert. She also was predeceased by her husband, Robert Short Sr., whom she deeply loved and who deeply loved her. She died after a short illness this week in Louisville, Ky., surrounded by her family, and after a remarkable, faith-filled, adventurous life. She attended the former Sue Bennett College in Berea, Ky., and taught school as a young woman. She was a renowned seamstress, a wonderful artist in paints and sketches, and a master crochet artist, creating exquisite works that will forever be unmatched. She was a gourmet Southern cook, and created coveted dishes in untold numbers for her clan, church fellowship and many more. She was an avid University of Kentucky basketball fan. She was a devoted member of Gethsemane Baptist Church in Danville for long years before she moved to Louisville to join her children. At Gethsemane, she taught Sunday school and sang in the choir. She spilled over with love, courage, common sense, strength and a little girl's sense of play. She worked hard and gave all of herself to her family, church, friends and strangers. She lived life her way. She was a champion thoroughbred and, as one person has said, died with her boots on. "Well done, thy good and faithful servant." The funeral service will be noon Friday, Nov. 23, 2012, at Gethsemane Baptist Church with the Rev. Steve James officiating. Burial will be in Danville Memorial Gardens. Visitation will be 11 a.m. until time of service Friday at Gethsemane Baptist Church. Wednesday, November 21, 2012.

SIRCY, Patricia Mary Sircy. 1930-2012. HARRODSBURG — Patricia Mary Sircy, 81, of Harrodsburg, Ky., died Friday, June 29, 2012, at home on her beloved farm after a two-year battle with health issues. Born Sept. 11, 1930, in Milwaukee, Wis., as the only daughter of Joseph G. and Katherine L. (Schneider) Struve, Pat married Hubert E. Sircy Jr. ("Junior") on June 17, 1950, a marriage that lasted until his death in 2004 and that produced seven children. While excelling in her role as wife and mother, Pat lived a life dedicated to things spiritual, educational, creative and community-focused. She was an active member of St. Joseph Catholic Church in Libertyville, Ill., for 25 years, and St. Andrew Catholic Church in Harrodsburg, Ky., for 33 years, serving on the building committee that oversaw the completion of the current St. Andrew complex. Pat had a deep, abiding faith in God that she shared freely with her family and all in the community with whom she came in contact. Education was important to Pat, who attended the University of Wisconsin at Madison and Lake Forest College in Lake Forest, Ill. She was active in PTA for the 34 years her children were in primary and secondary school, and was a driving force behind the Mercer County (Ky.) Senior High School Academic Excellence Committee. In everything from the varied books she read to her ability to solve the most difficult crossword puzzles, she instilled in her children and grandchildren a love for learning that has endured to this day. Pat's creative ability was manifest in a number of pursuits. She invented an eyeglass repair device that was featured on QVC, aptly named "Nu-Screw," which replaced the screw that frequently falls out of a pair of glasses. She served as CEO of Sir-C, the firm that manufactured the Nu-Screw. Her skills in a variety of crafts was legendary — Pat excelled in knitting, crochet, sewing and upholstery, and added basket weaving and chair caning to her repertoire in recent years. She found a very personal outlet for her creativity by making unique Christmas ornaments for her children and grandchildren each year from 1975 through 2010. Photography was a favorite pursuit, and Pat was an avid student and exemplar of the art, with two of her photos featured at the University of Kentucky Department of Architecture. Appropriately, the two photographs were of the oldest and newest churches in Mercer County. She was a gifted artist in the medium of greeting cards, selling her horsethemed hand-crafted works nationally and having them featured at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington. As a calligraphy expert, Pat was called upon to prepare many wedding invitations and lettering for other important documents. Not stopping with the use of her hands, Pat recorded several children's stories on tape that were distributed regionally. Moving to the farm in Harrodsburg was the fulfillment of a lifelong dream of Pat and Junior, who shared a love of horses. It was there they raised 15 Thoroughbreds and Arabians. She was an expert English rider, so much so that she gave lessons when the family was in Libertyville. Pat loved to see things grow, so one year she dedicated a portion of the farm to raise bell peppers, and in so doing she became the primary source of this vegetable for various outlets in Mercer County. Pat was incredibly active in her community. She was a member of the Countryside Manor Women's Club in Libertyville. When the family moved to Harrodsburg, she volunteered at the Red Cross Blood Bank and served as the president of the Haggin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary for two of her 14 years of service to the auxiliary. As the Haggin Memorial Hospital Gift Shop Manager for 13 years, Pat oversaw a major remodel and modernization of the gift shop. Her love for the community caused her to get involved in the Mercer County Fair, serving in the secretary's office for 29 years. She loved Harrodsburg and wanted all newcomers to feel welcome, which made her a natural in working with Welcome Wagon for many years. She also enjoyed her stint as a "food sample" lady at the local Gateway Supermarket. Pat's community focus included a desire to get involved in the political process. She was elected as a delegate to the Republican State Convention, and served for 20 years as an election sheriff for the polling station on Bohon Road just down from the farm. Pat leaves behind one brother, William Struve (Lacey Ann) of Wilmington, N.C.; two daughters, Kathi Sircy (David Wright) of Des Moines, Iowa, and Karen Sircy of Norfolk, Va.; five sons, Joseph of Cary, Ill., James of LaTuna Canyon, Calif., John (Debbie) of Paducah, Ky., Jay (Tina) of LaTuna Canyon, Calif., and Justin of Burbank, Calif. Grandchildren include Judd, Jacob, Jonathan (Britt), Elisha (Rachel), Asher and Kayla Sircy, Kendra (Eric) Stone, Khyll (Ryan) Berndt, Kaitlyn, Briana and Arthur Wright, Bo (Samantha) Stephenson and Roni Rae (Chris) Foy; as well as seven great-grandchildren. In addition to her husband, she was preceded in death by her brother, Joseph G. Struve. The family would like to extend special thanks for the love and care given to our mother by Billy and Shirley Taylor, Raul and

Kathy Ledesma, Joann Martin, Judy Joyce, Noreta Royalty, Dr. Richard Dartt and the people of Harrodsburg who have shared her life here for 33 years. Services will be at St. Andrew Catholic Church, with visitation 9-10:30 a.m. July 7, 2012, and the funeral Mass to follow at 11 a.m. Monday, July 2, 2012.

SMILEY, Wendell Wayne Smiley Jr. LANCASTER — Wendell Wayne Smiley Jr. of Lancaster, Ky., passed away Feb. 5, 2012, at the Markey Cancer Center at the University of Kentucky Hospital. Survivors include his loving wife of 31 years, Joyce Burgess Proffitt Smiley; and his children and their families, Wayne Stevenson Smiley and his wife Diane Smiley, Lee Ann Proffitt Thomiszer and her husband Frank Thomiszer of Lexington and Mark Proffitt and his wife Jean Proffitt; grandsons, Christopher, Nicholas and Ryan Proffitt of Lexington; and granddaughters, Ellie and Sara Smiley of Cincinnati. He also is survived by his brothers, Ralph (Joan) Smiley of Goldsboro, N.C., and John Stevenson Smiley of Bath, N.C.; a sister, Sara Smiley Lommatzsch of Riverside, Ohio; and numerous cousins and extended family. He was the favorite uncle of many nieces and nephews, as well as grandnieces and grandnephews in the Smiley and Burgess families. He was preceded in death by his parents, Wendell and Elva Smiley, and his brother, Scott L. Smiley. Wayne Smiley was born in Durham and grew up in Greenville, N.C. Lieutenant Smiley graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1957 and served as a pilot and instructor in the United States Air Force. He received his master's degree in aeronautical engineering from Oklahoma State University. After leaving the Air Force as a captain in 1965, Wayne continued his aviation career in St. Louis, Mo., with Rockwell International and then North American Aviation in Los Angeles, Calif. He was a licensed pilot in the U.S., United Kingdom and France. In 1978, Wayne moved to Somerset, Ky., where he owned the Somerset Boat Co. and several other businesses. He married Joyce Burgess Proffitt in 1981 and made Lancaster his permanent home. In his retirement, he enjoyed grandchildren, hobbies, friends and family. At his death, Wayne was serving as the president of the Navy League Central Kentucky Council and as an elder of First Presbyterian Church of Lancaster. Wayne's life was filled with trains, planes and automobiles. He was an avid Lionel model train collector, and Joyce and he particularly enjoyed the train shows in York, Pa. They traveled to 49 states and many countries. No distance was ever too great that prevented them from attending weddings, graduations and other milestone celebrations of their large family and extensive network of friends. Known fondly by many nicknames, "Boomie" will be greatly missed by his grandchildren and many others. Wayne never met a stranger and enriched the lives of everyone he met with a smile, a compliment and a story. He led a rich and full life and never failed to express his love and appreciation to those around him. The family would like to thank the medical teams of Markey Cancer Center and McDowell Home Health for their thoughtful care of Wayne in the past months. Memorials may be made to First Presbyterian Church, 105 Danville St., Lancaster KY 40444 or Rest Haven Sunday School, c/o Frankie Rice, 3930 Riviera Drive, Elm City, NC 27822. SULCEK, Charles E. Sulcek. 1917-2012. SPRINGDALE, Ark. — Charles E. Sulcek, 94, of Springdale, Ark., formerly of Chicago, went to be with the Lord in heaven on May 18, 2012, when he died of a sudden heart attack at Northwest Medical Center in Springdale. Charles was born Nov. 17, 1917, in Chicago. He worked for International Harvester in Evansville, Ind., and had moved to Stevensville, Mich., where he was an engineer in refrigeration for Whirlpool Corp. Later in life, he was transferred to Danville, Ky., and then Springdale. Throughout his life, he had many inventions and patents and retired with his wife, Mildred. Charles had a life story to share with everyone, and there was never a stranger he did not meet. He had a lot of love and compassion for people and his family and had a smile to share for everyone he knew. He was also loved and cared for by all who knew him. He ate everyday at his favorite restaurant, Western Sizzler, where the wait staff was his second family. He always bragged of the friendships he developed with them all. He was an avid golfer in his earlier days, loved to go polka dancing, traveled the world with his wife Mildred, and spent every Christmas holiday with his family and grandkids in St. Joseph, Mich. He also deeply loved his church family at First Assembly of God in Springdale. His favorite leisure time was tending to his well-groomed lawn and relaxing to his word search puzzle books in the evening and watching Lawrence Welk on Saturday nights as he would dance to the music. Charles leaves behind his daughter, Joann Evans and husband Keene of St. Joseph, Mich.; three grandchildren, Lenette Evans of St. Joseph, Mich., Keith Evans and wife Laura of Aurora, Ill., and Keene Evans and wife Sandy of Palm Bay, Fla.; three great-grandchildren, Rachael, Ryan and Eric Evans of Aurora, Ill.; his two favorite sisters-in law, Elizabeth "Betty" Bartolich of Bolingbrook, Ill., and Mary Bahorich, of Baltimore, Md.; his best friend, Nola Goodwin of Denton, Texas; and many cats he adored. Charles was preceded in death by his soul mate and wife, Mildred Sulcek, on Jan. 2, 2005; by his parents, Joseph and Abbie Sulcek; a brother, Theodore; and sisters, Albina, Anne, Katherine and Cecelia. Charles leaves behind a wonderful legacy for all us and thousands of memories that will never be forgotten. Sunday, September 9, 2012.

SWEENEY, Dr. George Sweeney. 1922-2012. LIBERTY — For the first time in over 100 years, Casey County is without a Dr. Sweeney. Dr. George William Sweeney passed away July 6 at his home in Liberty. He was 90 years old. Dr. George was born on April 23, 1922, at the same address where he lived until his death. George was married to Mollie Kathryn Popplewell Sweeney for 42 years. She died in 1989. He was the youngest child of William Jasper and Edna Jones Sweeney. He was preceded in death by two brothers, Charles Jasper and Dr. Garnett Jones Sweeney; two sisters, Lucy Sweeney Wash and Ruth Sweeney Wesley; and a grandson, Jason Oliver Coffey. A precocious child and an athletic teen, George never shied away from hard work on the small family farm. He graduated from Liberty High School and went on to attend the University of Kentucky. In 1942, after two years of college, George enlisted in the U.S. Navy. He served in the north Atlantic on the U.S.S. Bogue and ended his war service in the South Pacific. In 1944, George married his childhood sweetheart Mollie, and they returned to Lexington where he finished his undergraduate studies. In 1947, they moved to Louisville where he completed his Doctor of Medicine degree and his residency. In 1951, they returned to Liberty where he joined his brother in the medical practice their late father had started. George and Mollie had four children who survive, Suzanne (Mickey) LaFavers, Steve (Rita Godbey) Sweeney, Lydia (Jim) Coffey and Sally (Ronnie) Davis. Also surviving are eight grandchildren, Lisa LaFavers Combs, Mike Sweeney LaFavers, Lara Sweeney Johnson, Beth Sweeney Kress, Katy Sweeney Wilson, Luke William Davis, Matt Winston Davis and Meredith Kathryn Coffey. He also leaves behind 12 great-grandchildren, Zack and Kathryn Combs, Mollie, Madelyn and Will LaFavers, Elizabeth, Henry and Mollie Johnson, Lucy and Jack Wilson, George and Annie Davis and soon-to-be No. 13, Baby Davis. He is also survived by his brother-in-law and best friend, Paul Wesley. Dr. George said his greatest accomplishment was graduating from medical school. He practiced with his brother Garnett and Dr. Lewis Wesley until Dr. Wesley's death. Dr. Garnett and Dr. George retired from their practice in 1996. He will be remembered for being a compassionate doctor, a caring person who quietly served his community and a humble man who lived simply and loved much. He will be greatly missed. Dr. George was a lifetime member of First Christian Church where he will be remembered with an informal memorial service today. The family will receive visitors at the church from 3 p.m. until the time of the service which will begin at 6 p.m. A private burial will take place at a later time. In lieu of flowers, Dr. George would be pleased to have donations to First Christian Church, P.O. Box 8, Liberty, Ky. 42539 or Hospice Lake Cumberland, 100 Parkway Drive, Somerset, Ky. 42502. Sunday, July 8, 2012.

THOMPSON, Robert D. Thompson. 1928-2012. Mr. Robert Douglas Thompson, 84, husband of Mary Cecil Jones Thompson of Burgin, Ky., passed away on Wednesday, May 23, 2012. Robert was born on March 8, 1928 in Gratz, Ky., Owen County, to the late D.W. and Jessie Criswell Thompson. On Sept. 11, 1951, he married Mary Cecil Jones and they had two children. Robert graduated from Burgin Independent School, where he played varsity basketball, football and was a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 44. He attended Centre College for two years, and attended and graduated from Georgetown College in 1950 with a degree in business administration. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. After college, he moved back home to Burgin and began working as bookkeeper at Citizen's Bank and Trust Co. where his father was president. Robert soon was promoted to assistant cashier, then head cashier and vice president in 1968. In 1984, he became president and chairman of the board of Citizen's Bank and Trust Co. Robert also was owner of Mc-Crosky and Thompson Insurance Agency in Burgin, a 50-year business begun by his father. In 1991, Citizen's Bank was sold to Farmer's National Bank. Robert remained an active board member until age 70 and also served as an advisory board director for Farmers National Bank for several years. Robert owned Southwestern Farm on Buster Pike where he was a part-time farmer. He was a member of Kentucky National Guard, 1st Lieutenant, retiring after 12 years, no months, and no days. He learned to fly an airplane and was a member of the Burgin Lions Club. He was co-owner of Kentucky River Marble and treasurer of the board of directors, a member of Kentucky Bankers Association and a Kentucky Colonel. Robert was a member of Burgin Baptist Church from 1935 to 2002, serving as trustee and treasurer. Since September 2002, Robert has been a member of Harrodsburg Baptist Church. Robert was treasurer for Burgin School for 20 years and Burgin City Clerk for eight years. He was instrumental in getting the City of Burgin connected onto the Harrodsburg waterline and when Pleasant Hill Drive was developed, he named the new subdivision and had the water line installed. He was a volunteer fireman for the City of Burgin. Robert was named the Burgin Independent School Outstanding Alumni for 2012 and will be honored at the high school graduation on May 25. Robert was a Christian gentleman who always devoted himself to his church, his family and toward the betterment of the Burgin community. He was a loving, faithful and devoted husband, father and grandfather. He was a respected man of the highest character and integrity, with a humble and generous heart. Robert is survived by his loving wife of 60½ years, Mary Cecil Thompson; two children, Susan Douglas Thompson Barrington (John) of Burgin, Ky., and Robert Cecil Thompson of Pompano Beach, Fla.; one granddaughter, Mary Elizabeth T. THORNGREN, Margaret Thorngren. 1920-2012. LANCASTER — Margaret Gulley Williams Thorngren, 92, of Lancaster and Lexington, Ky., passed away Thursday, Dec. 13, 2012, at St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington after a brief illness. Born Nov. 1, 1920, in Lancaster, she was a daughter of the late Jesse W. and Stella H. Gulley. She grew up on the family's farm at Camp Dick Robinson in an active family with three brothers, a sister and an older stepbrother. Her early experience in the 4-H club cultivated an interest in education and home economics, leading Margaret to earn a B.S. in home economics at the University of Kentucky and an M.S. in extension education in 1958 at the University of Wisconsin. She showed characteristic fearlessness and determination by establishing a career as a home demonstration agent in Central Kentucky and Tennessee, and as an associate professor of 4-H at Virginia Polytechnic Institute at a time when relatively few women lived independently. Margaret married Leonard B. Williams, now deceased, in 1964. Together, they lived abroad, working for the United States Agency of International Development as agricultural extension agents. From 1964 to 1972, Margaret and Len were stationed in Thailand, Sudan and Ghana, and traveled extensively to many other countries, where Margaret worked with individuals and groups, teaching everything from conversational English and food preservation, to consulting with local businesses on marketing traditional woven fabrics and improving health conditions in local communities. While in Ghana, Margaret was in charge of a private dinner for the First Lady of the United States, Mrs. Patricia Nixon, and the Prime Minister of Ghana, at the ambassador's residence. Returning to Kentucky in 1972, Margaret was instrumental in managing the family farm at Camp Dick Robinson, continued encouraging leadership and success in young people through 4-H, and promoted community space dedicated to farmers and homemakers, which later became the extension service office in Lancaster. She raised award-winning irises, was president of the Bluegrass Iris Society, and was a National Iris Show judge. Margaret was a longstanding member of Lancaster Christian Church, and was an active member of Trinity Episcopal Church in Danville for 19 years, serving as a member of the vestry, junior warden and a board of trustee member for Cardinal Meadow. Later in life and after a brief marriage to Dale Thorngren, a long-time friend, Margaret established a dynamic library that bears her name at the Lafayette retirement home in Lexington, Ky. Her efforts in the library bring daily enjoyment to the residents, and continue the links of education and opportunity that were a hallmark in Margaret's life. A devoted sister, aunt and grandmother, Margaret is survived by her sister, Mary Gulley Sanders, and her brother, Dr. James G. Gulley, both of Lancaster; her stepson, Dr. Leonard B. VERDON, Eugene "Gino" Verdon III, age 22, passed away May 31, 2012, in Melbourne, Australia. Tragically, he was another victim of type 1 (juvenile) diabetes. Gino went to bed in the early morning hours of Thursday, May 31 — healthy, happy and excited to be traveling home to the U.S. the next day. During his sleep, Gino unknowingly developed severe hypoglycemia and didn't wake up. Gino was born Feb. 1, 1990, in Hudson, N.Y. Gino treasured his childhood that allowed him to attend schools in Danville, Ky.; Tokyo, Japan; Big Flats/Corning, N.Y.; and Taipei, Taiwan, where he graduated from the Taipei American School (TAS) in 2008. As part of his educational experiences, Gino also traveled the world. Some of his favorite places were Hawaii, Tasmania, California, The Great Wall, Thailand, Saipan, New York City, Melbourne, and exploring Taipei, especially Luxy. Since he was old enough to read a map, Gino always wanted to visit London. That dream came true earlier this year as he and his girl celebrated their birthdays together in London. Although Gino loved the big cities and far-away locations, he was just as happy at his grandfather's Christmas tree farm, playing in the back yard or playing a game of orange ball in his Pop-Pop's pool. Like his entire family Gino, was an avid New York Yankee and New York Giants fan. He enjoyed going to Yankee Stadium every year with his extended family. Over the past few years, he also rooted for the New Zealand All Blacks. Gino enjoyed reading and had a zeal for anything Lord of the Rings. He loved to relax to music and learned to play guitar; "Iron Man" was his favorite song to play. While living in Painted Post, Gino volunteered to work with mentally-challenged children. This seemed to start Gino's deep love for children. Perhaps because of his warm smile or his generous heart, young children were always enamored of Gino. He was the first choice of many kids to be their babysitter. Gino's family was so looking forward to him becoming a father someday, as we all know we would have been an excellent dad. As reported in local newspapers, in the summer of 2003, Gino and his family organized the first Tour DeKeuka, a 100-mile bike ride around Keuka Lake to raise awareness and donations for a cure for diabetes. The first year of this bike ride started in Painted Post at 5 a.m. and finished 210 miles later, minutes before midnight on the same day, in Catskill, N.Y. Gino's father made the entire trek accompanied by Gino at various stages of the ride. Numerous other friends and family joined along the way, with some completing their first century ride. The first year raised more than $8,000. The second year the event was renamed the Tour DeKeuka, the route changed to circle Keuka; and the amount raised more than doubled. The Tour DeKeuka bike trek now has become an annual event, with over $215,000 in donations for the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation. Further information can be found at www.tourdekeuka.com or Randy Rhodes at TourDeKeuka@Gmail.com. Out of respect for origins of this event, it is the family's hope the Tour DeKeuka can be renamed in Gino's memory. Sports were a big part of Gino's life. He played baseball for 10 years. During Gino's last year of Little League, he and his two brothers played on the same team and made up 34 of the infield. He also played American football, basketball, soccer, and swimming. His father enjoyed coaching Gino and his brothers in baseball, basketball and football everywhere they lived, while his mom supported these events as the Team Mom, Little League board member/chapter president, or cheerleader. It was while attending Taipei American School Gino found his true passion in rugby, where he was captain of the TAS Tigers. Gino's passion for rugby led him to be a physical fitness enthusiast. After graduation from TAS, Gino moved to Melbourne, Australia, to attend university. Late last year, he took time off from his formal studies and recently received his Personal Training Certificate from The Australian Fitness Institute, taking on his first client in late May. Gino planned to balance his commitment to physical fitness with a bachelor of science degree in food and nutrition, and expected to graduate in one year. Gino so enjoyed his life and lived every day to the fullest. He has an amazing group of friends in Melbourne as well as Taipei, Corning/Painted Post, Tokyo and Kentucky, who he talked about with laughter and fantastic memories. Gino also was making plans for his future after graduation that included marriage to the love of his life, Ellie Shepherd of London. They were to be engaged upon Ellie's arrival in New York June 9. Gino is survived by his father, Gino Jr.; his mother, Patricia; brothers Joseph and Zachary; grandparents Eugene Sr., and Robert and Phyllis Abrahamsen; numerous aunts, uncles and cousins; and so many beloved friends who were his extended family all over the world. He is pre-deceased by his cousin, Anthony Ryan Verdon, and grandmother Sophie A. Verdon. In keeping with Gino's life, memorial services for Gino span the world. An informal memorial was held for Gino June 5 at The Curtain in Melbourne; followed by services June 7. A service was held in Taipei, Taiwan, at Mother of God Church, only a few blocks away from where Gino and his family lived during the past six years. Mass was said in Gino's memory at the Franciscan Chapel Center (Roppongi Catholic Church) in Tokyo. A memorial will be held in Gino's honor in the Corning, N.Y., area; for more details, call Jeffery Christian at (607) 738-6928. Calling hours were 2-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Monday, June 11, in the Catskills at Richard's Funeral Home, Cairo, N.Y. There will be a Catholic mass and burial today, Tuesday, June 12, followed by a gathering at the Kiskatom fire house. Contact Richard's Funeral Home for more information, (518) 622-9503. Memorial donations in Gino's honor can be made to the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation (JDRE). Tuesday, June 12, 2012.
